A SIGN FOR THE TIMES

This sign, Mr. Motorist, is one you should watch for these days, claims eight-year-old Kevin Cmolik, top. On his way to school, Kevin got a lift from Darren Fowley, 9, another student, to have a closer look at the safety sign. These two, and thousands like them, rely on drivers' good sense for their safety. The sign warns of a school crossing and means slow down, drive cautiously. Police will be carefully enforcing the reduced speed zones around the city's schools and urge all drivers to note there is an increased hazard in these areas now that classes are in session again. (Courier Photo).

THAT'S WHAT DOGS ARE ALL ABOUT

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — A settlement of $1,600 for a four-year-old girl who was bitten by a dog was approved in county court Wednesday, although Judge Francis Costello said the child was "lucky to get anything at all."

Michelle Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Saunders of nearby Preston, was bitten by the dog when she wandered into a neighbor's yard last Sept. 15.

M. J. Reid, solicitor for the plaintiff, said the dog, owned by Theodore Roth, "took a chew out of the left cheek of the child." He said the fact the child was a trespasser and the dog was chained at the time did not relieve the defendant of responsibility.

Mr. Reid said he had been told the dog had a previous history of biting people on its home property.

Replied Judge Costello: "That's what the dog is programmed to do, isn't it?"

Diversion Of Shuswap Studied

VANCOUVER (CP)—A detailed report on possible effects on the Thompson and Fraser river fisheries of British Columbia's proposed Shuswap diversion is expected to be ready soon, Federal Fisheries Minister Jack Davis said Wednesday.

Mr. Davis said the report will not be made public until it is studied by other federal departments and Ray Williston, B.C.'s Resources Minister.

There have been objections from residents in the Kamloops-Salmon Arm area to the diversion which would carry water from the Shuswap-Thompson watershed into the Okanagan.

Represented mainly by the Shuswap-Thompson River Research and Development Association, the objectors say they are not against the diversion as long as it is proved the future water needs of the Shuswap-Thompson area will be met.

They also ask for comprehensive studies of the area's water needs before any diversion occurs.

Mr. Davis said the report is by federal personnel "who also drew heavily on provincial information."

"While I don't have the report right now, I have some idea of what it contains. It will look both at the fishery and the ecology of the area."

Deluge Kills 10

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ten persons were killed and at least 13 injured Tuesday night after a torrential two-hour rainstorm flooded parts of the city and collapsed homes.

Flood levels reached five feet. One mother saved her child by holding the two-year-old over her head as mud filled her shack eventually suffocating the woman.

Two adults and four children suffocated as hundreds of tons of mud slid into their homes.

The rain caused blackouts in several sectors, trapped passengers in elevators, created massive traffic jams and general chaos.

A two-storey building collapsed in the San Angel neighborhood. Three persons died and 13 were injured.

Quebec Row Gets Violent

MONTREAL (CP) — A year-old educational conflict with province-wide repercussions exploded into violence Wednesday night when English- and French-speaking residents of suburban St. Leonard clashed in a local school hall.

An estimated 400 persons, shouting insults at one another, began throwing folding chairs minutes before a meeting organized by the unilingual Ligue pour l'Integration Scolaire was set to begin.

Lis president Raymond Lemieux, leader of the fight to eliminate English-language education in the suburb's elementary schools, was taken to hospital after a chair struck him on the head. His injuries were not serious.

Mr. Lemieux has described St. Leonard as "the symbol of Quebec resistance to English integration."

The English-speaking group—mostly of Italian immigrants—was removed from the hall by riot police. But once outside they threw stones through many of the school's windows.

Truckers Blast Teamster Move

VANCOUVER (CP)—A lawyer for the Automotive Transport Association of British Columbia said Wednesday the Teamsters Union was guilty of a "criminal conspiracy" in its moves to help striking oil workers.

Lawyer David Vickers, representing 54 trucking firms, made the accusation in B.C. Supreme Court. Mr. Justice J. G. McDonald was hearing an association application for an injunction that would force rescinding a union order not to move trucks unless they contained fuel from refineries not involved in the oil workers strike.

Mr. Justice McDonald was expected to rule in the case today after hearing further evidence from the association.

Mr. Vickers said the "criminal conspiracy" was to induce a breach of contract the Teamsters have with the trucking firms. He said the union order was illegal under two provincial statutes and would "harm the contracts the trucking firms have with their customers."

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union has been on strike since May 23 against six Lower Mainland oil companies.

Standard, Imperial, Shell, Home, Texaco and Gulf.

The union has declared products of all six companies "hot," but the transport association last week obtained a temporary injunction restraining the Teamsters from further counselling drivers to drive only "cool-fueled" trucks.

However, that injunction did not rescind the original union order and it still remains in effect. The association says if the Teamsters go through with their plans, it would result in a massive tie-up of ground transport across the province.

Teamsters Union president Ed Lawson said following Wednesday's court action that even if the order is rescinded, he can't guarantee his men will drive the trucks.

"If any more incidents occur I am certain they will refuse to subject themselves to danger," Mr. Lawson said. Denying the Teamsters' action was a conspiracy, Mr. Lawson said union drivers have "come close to physical injury and possible death" due to the actions of "apparent oil workers' sympathizers."

N. Vietnam Leaders Jockey For Position

HONG KONG (Reuters) — A power struggle to replace North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh, whose death was announced by Hanoi radio, already has begun, observers in Hong Kong said today.

The man who fought the Japanese, French and Americans died at 9:47 a.m. Wednesday (1:47 p.m. EDT Tuesday), the North Vietnamese news agency reported.

He had been dead for nine minutes when Hanoi radio reported Wednesday that he was "gravely ill." The radio today said the 79-year-old leader died of a heart attack just a day after the 24th anniversary of North Vietnam's first declaration of independence from France which led to the Indochinese war.

Announcement of his death was withheld for nearly 21 hours, while Hanoi radio prepared the North Vietnamese people with periodic reports that his condition was getting worse.

"Everyone tried their utmost and gave of their best to save him at any price," Hanoi radio said, "but because of his advanced age and serious illness of the sudden severe heart attack, President Ho has left us forever."

The man considered most likely to succeed him is Le Duan, a 62-year-old southerner who is first secretary of the North Vietnamese Workers (Communist) party.

His name surfaced after Vietnam news agency reports that Le Duan would head a man committee to organize state funeral for Ho.

The agency issued the name of the committee members in strict order. Noting the attention paid to ranking in official Communist announcements, servers in Hong Kong saw it indicating that Le Duan had clear edge over the other men seen as his closest rival for the leadership.

Weather Conditions Delay Big Underground H-Blast

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Unfavorable weather conditions have caused at least a 24-hour delay in Project Rulison, a 40-kiloton underground nuclear blast in western Colorado.

Project officials made the decision Wednesday night after a weather briefing. Forecasts were for bad weather again on Friday and possibly Saturday.

Each day's delay will cost Austral Oil Co. of Houston, Tex., one of the sponsors of the blast, an estimated $31,000.

"The predictions are clearly outside the criteria we have established for ourselves," said Bob Tahlgott, test manager. Weathermen said there was a strong chance of thundershowers over the test site, near the town of Grand Valley, about the time of the scheduled detonation—5 p.m. EDT Thursday. Indications, the forecasters said, that there would be thundershowers in the area about the same time on Friday.

LEGAL MOVES FAIL Weather conditions halted the scheduled explosion 8,500 feet under the earth's crust after extensive legal manoeuvres failed to do so.

Justice Thurgood Marshall of the U.S. Supreme Court refused Wednesday to overturn lower court decisions that all necessary precautions had been taken and the explosion could proceed.

In Denver, meanwhile, a federal judge denied another injunction request from a conservationist group which contended the blast threatens the safety of Colorado residents and could contaminate ground water and the atmosphere.

Bombs Thrown In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Two firebombs were thrown Wednesday into the plant of a concrete producing firm which is involved in an inter-union dispute here.

One of the firebombs—bottles filled with gasoline—crashed through a window of the Teskey Ready-Mix Concrete Co. Ltd. but did not explode. The other cracked another window and burst into flames.

Company President Frank Teskey and other employees put out the blaze with fire extinguishers before firemen arrived.

There was no damage to the building except for two broken windows.

Dirksen Rests After Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Everett M. Dirksen was said to be resting well today after the removal of a cancerous lung tumor.

Members of his staff said they had been told the senator would remain in Walter Reed Army Hospital for up to six weeks. He was operated on Tuesday.

Republican Senate Whip Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania was filling in for the 73-year-old senator from Illinois who is the Republican leader.

Major Changes Not Sighted

They are National Assembly Chairman Truong Chinh, 61, and Premier Pham Van Dong, 62. They were listed No. 3 and No. 4 in the committee, and given the title "deputy head" along with Vice-president Ton Duc Thang, No. 2 in the list.

Thang, 81, becomes acting president under the North Vietnamese constitution. But observers do not consider him as a serious candidate for the leadership, most likely because of his age.

The list also seemed to rule out Defence Minister Vo Nguyen Giap for the top spot. He was listed No. 7.

The death of Ho, who died without seeing the fulfillment of his dream of a united, Communist Vietnam under his leadership, was not considered likely to mean any major changes in Hanoi's foreign policy or in conduct of the Vietnamese war.

SEE NO CHANGE Officials in Washington thought his death would mean no change in the war or in progress of the peace talks in Paris, which have been stalled for months.

Today's session of the peace talks was cancelled. The next meeting will be held next Thursday.

Search Abandoned In Israel For Missing Ex-Bishop Pike

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli army abandoned its search for Dr. James Pike tonight.

It made the decision after a fruitless, day-long search by troops, policemen and airplanes of the Judean desert for the former Episcopal (Anglican) bishop of California. Officials held little hope that he was still alive.

Pike, 56, has been missing since Monday night, after his rented car got stuck about eight miles west of the Dead Sea. His 31-year-old wife left him on a hillside and walked all night until she reached a road workers' camp.

Mrs. Pike told police she and her husband were doing research on a book and decided to drive through the desert for a few hours to "get the feel of the Judean hills." She said the car got stuck in rocks and boulders about 3 p.m. and they were unable to free it despite trying about two hours.

Then the couple set out on foot toward the Dead Sea. After two hours of walking, Pike complained of leg pains and told his wife to go on without him.

"I suggested that he take nap and when he got strength to follow me," said Pike. "I left him atop a mountain about six or seven miles west of the Dead Sea."

There were four theories explaining Pike's disappearance. —That he had taken refuge one of the many caves in the area to escape daytime temperatures of more than 100 degrees.

—That he had fallen victim to a beast of prey.

—That he had succumbed to the heat and that his body was beneath some overhanging cliff.

Police And British Troops Break Barricades In Belfast

BELFAST (Reuters) — Police and British troops moved in today to restore order and tear down barricades set up during the night by roving bands of religious extremists, mostly Protestants.

The police and troops moved in at daybreak, abandoning their policy of not intervening with obstructions erected by residents for their own protection during and after bloody Roman Catholic-Protestant riots last month.

A statement from the army which took control of security in Northern Ireland after the riots said that in the economic interests of Ulster it would not attempt to disrupt the main flow of traffic.

The barricades were erected by Protestants and one by Catholics—were set up in main thoroughfares and cut off several main approaches to the city.

Junta Sends In Troops To Control Libyan City

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Libyan troops and tanks entered Benghazi during the night and took control of the country's second largest city on behalf of the new revolutionary junta "without meeting any resistance," Tripoli radio reported today.

No explanation was given for the move, but Benghazi is the capital of Cyrenaica province, where desert tribes are known to be fanatically loyal to deposed King Idris.

Observers in Tunis believed the broadcast indicated opposition to the military regime of Col. Saad Eddin Abdu Choulib, which seized power Monday and declared Libya a republic.

Benghazi, the birthplace of Col. Choulib, is 700 miles east of Tripoli, Libya's capital, and 300 miles from the Egyptian border.

The broadcast said: "Libyan tanks and infantry moved into Benghazi late last night and in the early hours of this morning under the direction of the army officers commanded by the revolutionary council."

Another Tripoli Radio broadcast today made an urgent call for all doctors and nurses to report to the city's central hospital.

The broadcasts gave no other details.

The official Libyan news agency reported Libyan Air Force planes flew patrols over the country's oil installations Wednesday night after anti-British demonstrations in Libyan cities.

The Middle East news agency said the demonstrations broke out after Libya's new military leaders warned Britain not to help King Idris try to regain his throne.

Arabs Asked To Close Ranks For Recapture Of Lost Lands

CAIRO (Reuters) — Arab nations today were asked to close ranks against Israel and provide full support for a battle to win back Arab lands occupied by the Israelis in the six-day war of June, 1967.

Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Iraq joined by Sudan—said Wednesday night after a two-day summit conference here that while they would man the frontlines, the rest of the Arab world should help pay the cost.

A communique issued after the talks said: "The battle is too big to be confined to one place. It is a battle of destiny."

The communique was signed by U. A. R. President Nasser, Syria's head of state, Nureddin El Atassi, Iraqi Deputy Premier Saleh Mahdi Ammash and Maj.-Gen. Gafar el Nimery, president of the New Revolutionary Council of Sudan.

They said that Israel's challenge to the Arabs reached its peak in the fire that partially destroyed the Al Aksah Mosque in Jerusalem last month.

They denounced the blaze as a crime and said the spirit of Arab solidarity required a

"Grrr ...!"

Guerrillas Claim Battle

Arab guerrillas claimed they fought their biggest battles yet with Israeli troops in the Jordan Valley today and the fighting, which cost them at least five dead, lasted until early today.

Israel did not mention any major battles in its communiqués.

In Tel Aviv, a military spokesman said Israeli planes today struck for the second straight day at guerrillas east of the River Jordan.

At the same time, Israeli ground forces countered an attack launched by guerrillas with barbed wire and small-arms fire on an Israeli patrol near Ashdot Yaakov village to the north. There were no Israeli casualties in the incidents and the Israeli planes returned safely to base, the spokesman said.

A guerrilla communique said the biggest fought by the commandos. They lasted until early today and resulted in heavy Israeli casualties and material damage.

It said the attacks were made on 12 Israeli posts along a 13-mile front extending from Turmaniya in the north to Suwaima in the south.

Two Killed At Princeton

PRINCETON (CP) — Two persons are dead following a single-car accident Wednesday on the southern Trans-Canada highway near here.

RCMP said Mark Allan Thompson of Summerland was pronounced dead on arrival at hospital after being pinned beneath the vehicle and that Charles George Bradford of New Westminster, collapsed and died, apparently from a heart attack, while attempting to lift the overturned car from Thompson.

Police said Thompson's car overturned in a 12-foot ditch. His wife is in good condition in Princeton hospital.

Future Of CUS Clouded As Meeting Ends Early

Fatigue after hours of debate and a dramatic statement of disillusionment by an executive member of the Canadian Union of Students to a pre-meeting close in Port Arthur, Ont. action leaves the union's future uncertain. The week-long convention adjourned about 6 p.m. Wednesday after a 17-hour session that produced some policy statements but left many questions not considered. The adjournment came after Barry Pearce, a CUS official and ad worker in the Maritimes, said his position as chairman of a plenary session to address students. He said he could no longer tolerate the hypocrisy he is experiencing as chairman.

Gene Levesque, leader of the separatist Parti Quebecois, says Quebec, the Union Nationale's school language policy is contributing to the assimilation of French-Canadians. The entire government, and not just the education department, favors English-language education, he said. Mr. Levesque reviewed the language policy of his Parti Quebecois, which is that anyone who now speaks English is entitled to education in that language.

Michael Lewicky, 49, was sentenced in Vancouver Wednesday to life imprisonment for the 1968 murder of May 10 of Christine Krisko, 51. Mrs. Krisko was shot while she played cards at the Lewicky home in Vancouver. "My life is ruined and I blame it all on her so I guess I had a motive," Lewicky said in a statement to police that was admitted as evidence in the trial.

The body of an 18-year-old Canadian student, Normal Eda Doyon, was buried Wednesday in Chetumal, Quintana Roo, Mexico, because it was not claimed by relatives or by the Canadian authorities. Chetumal authorities said the student, whose Canadian name was not given, was found on the Mexico-British Honduras border four days ago.

Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing announced Wednesday in Paris the start of a short, sharp deflationary period in France designed to put the franc on a sound footing. This would create a basis for long-term measures to make France a modern industrial nation in whose benefits all should share, he said.

Alice Kosterling, 44, of Alderbrook, died in New Westminster hospital Wednesday, a week after she was injured in a two-car collision in Surrey. Her daughter Jennie, 18, remained in hospital and was listed in satisfactory condition.

Two sociology professors, after studying the histories of 119 strip-tease dancers, said in San Francisco the girls usually were first-born and received little parental affection, particularly from their fathers. James J. Skipper and Charles H. McCaghy of Cleveland said they thought the girls began to display their bodies to gain attention they didn't get at home.

Many Americans Dislike Jews

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Outright prejudice against Jews has decreased since the Second World War, but about one-third of all Americans are still anti-Semitic, two sociologists report. These anti-Semitic Americans still accept the stereotype of the unethical Jew who has too much power in business and sticks too close to other Jews, the researchers said Wednesday.

They reported about one-third of all Americans would not necessarily vote against a political candidate who declared himself against Jews if the candidate appealed to them for other reasons.

Dr. Gertrude Selznick, a lecturer at the University of California's Berkeley campus, and Dr. Charles Glock, chairman of its sociology department, released their 1964 study of 2,000 families at the American Sociological Association convention. Their research was sponsored by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

Dr. Selznick said the major factor behind anti-Semitism is lack of education.

"As the nation becomes more educated inevitably the derogatory image will decline, but not that rapidly," she said.

N. Koreans Refuse To Free Three U.S. Copter Fliers

PANMUNJOM (CP) — North Korea said today that it will not release the three crew members of an American helicopter shot down Aug. 17 unless the United States admits they were on a criminal mission.

The United States said it would admit only that the helicopter had entered Communist territory inadvertently in violation of the Korean armistice agreement, and would give assurances that such an incident would not recur.

Maj.-Gen. Lee Choon-sun, representing North Korea at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission called to discuss the release of the three Americans, demanded an "unconditional apology" admitting that the helicopter was on a "criminal mission," as well as a written assurance that there will be no more such incidents in the future.

U.S. Marine Maj.-Gen. Arthur Adams, senior armistice delegate of United Nations command here said he only was willing to submit a document saying the helicopter was on a military mission, became lost and "therefore flew into your territory."

The helicopter was shot down a few miles north of the demilitarized zone. The three crew members were reported by the North Koreans to be alive but injured.

Capt. David J. Crawford and specialist Herman E. Hofstatter are believed severely injured. The pilot, WO Vernon Loopke, was described as slightly injured.

In his opening statement, Adams said Korea could have a document containing "an expression of regret and a statement that measures will be taken to prevent recurrences of an incident of this kind."

VICTORIA (CP) — Resources Minister Ray Williston indicated Wednesday that British Columbia and the federal government are still at odds on the mechanics of controlling water pollution.

He spoke at a joint press conference with Otto Lang, federal minister without portfolio, after the two had discussed the proposed Canada Water Act, which will be introduced in Parliament this fall.

Mr. Williston said his earlier opinion that the proposed act would create unnecessary confusion in water pollution control has been only slightly moderated. He said a great deal more clarification was necessary before he can give a clear-cut synopsis of federal proposals to the provincial cabinet.

Asked if federal proposals would prove more useful in fighting pollution than the province's existing laws, Mr. Williston replied:

"To be perfectly honest and forthright, the answer is no."

Mr. Lang said the basic intention of the Canada Water Act would be to get federal and provincial governments to work together.

Mr. Lang described the talks Wednesday as "a base for future action" and agreed with Mr. Williston that continuing technical discussions will be necessary.

"Our view is that we must not let differences of opinion about jurisdiction and action get in the way of solving problems," he said.

The federal minister is on a cross-country tour to acquaint provincial governments with the proposed act.

The new act would place the financial burden for cleaning Canada's lakes and rivers mainly with municipalities and industries, which are primarily responsible for water pollution.

He said it was not his intention to evaluate provincial water standards or policies on his national tour.

A total of 96.25 per cent of Kelowna taxpayers paid their 1968 taxes before the deadline of July 31.

A report presented to the council Tuesday night by city comptroller D. B. Herbert showed:

"Of the total levy of $3,213,618 the city collected by the due date of July 31, $3,093,299 or 96.25 per cent. Current taxes outstanding at Aug. 1 total $120,518, to which a five per cent penalty has been added.

"Of 8,300 parcels of property on the 1968 tax roll, taxes still remain outstanding on 279 parcels.

"Last year of the total 1968 levy of $2,824,791 the city collected by the due date of Oct. 20, $2,769,570 or 98.04 per cent. The highest current tax collection record in the history of the City of Kelowna was established in 1957 when $589,060, or 99.39 per cent of a total levy of $592,671 was collected by the due date of Oct. 21.

Since 1952 the percentage of prepayment has ranged from 97.99 in 1967 to a high of 99.39 in 1957, a record considered among the best in Canada for cities of Kelowna's size.

The reason the percentage is lower this year is because the deadline was switched to July 31 from Oct. 21. Mr. Herbert said he will have a more accurate picture after tallying figures to the second penalty date, Aug. 31. This year the interest rates for prepayments was raised to six per cent from five and the penalty split to five per cent after July 31 and a further five per cent after Aug. 31.

By comparison, there were 3,525 parcels of taxable land in 1952, compared with 6,300 this year.

Illegal left turns are hitting dozens of Kelowna motorists bright in the pocket book.

Ken Preston, the city's senior traffic constable, said today 30 drivers were charged last week, and 12 in the first two days of this week for turning left at newly restricted intersections.

"I could detect several weeks ago to attempt to smooth the flow of traffic through the downtown area and restricted six intersections along Harvey Avenue and Bernard Avenue during traffic rush hours."

"A lot of people just can't read plain English or aren't used to the signs," said Preston, said, "They seem to get into a rut with their driving habits."

The traffic constables, who patrol bus intersections during rush hours, are giving no warnings. The city is making money hand over fist at $15 a violation.

"This isn't meant to be a money-maker," the constable said: "But people are just going to have to get used to the no left turns; a traffic sign is a traffic sign and what they say is law."

Restricted to no left turns during the noon to 1 p.m. and 4:30 to 6 p.m. time periods are the intersections at: Bernard Avenue and Water Street, Bernard Avenue and Pandosy, Bernard and Ellis, Harvey Avenue and Richter Street, Harvey and Pandosy, and Harvey and Bertram.

Mr. Lang said the basic intention of the Canada Water Act would be to get federal and provincial governments to work together.

Lang described the talks Wednesday as "a base for future action" and agreed with Mr. Williston that continuing technical discussions will be necessary.

"Our view is that we must not let differences of opinion about jurisdiction and action get in the way of solving problems," he said.

The federal minister is on a cross-country tour to acquaint provincial governments with the proposed act.

The new act would place the financial burden for cleaning Canada's lakes and rivers mainly with municipalities and industries, which are primarily responsible for water pollution.

He said it was not his intention to evaluate provincial water standards or policies on his national tour.

Government Delay Causing Concern

Indecision by the federal government on a joint water study got a blast from the Regional District of Central Okanagan at its regular meeting Wednesday.

"I'd like to find out why the Canadian government is not prepared to sign," questioned W. H. Raikes.

"Too many Liberals" another board member suggested.

Lack of action on the federal-provincial government water study also engendered the wrath of the Okanagan Water Basin Board, which solicited support of the regional district in condemning the situation.

Giving the federal government the benefit of the doubt, Jim Stuart thought the water study was initially proposed as a "pilot scheme for Canada" and now the government felt it was "setting a precedent." He added "they're just sorting out things to see how much financing is involved."

"We should find out why they are delaying the study," said Mr. Raikes.

"We want to get it sewn-up as quickly as possible," said D. A. Pritchard, who favored a western policy on the matter.

"Something's going on that's not right," said Mel Marshall, adding he had been under the impression the water basin board "was going to get provincial assistance."

"What's going on here?" he condemned.

More annoyed with the agenda delay, Harold Thwaite suggested the matter should have been discussed while it was still on the floor. "Let's get on the rails," he chided, adding the federal government was "just as slow as the provincial government." The agenda item under discussion had been settled earlier on his motion to write the federal government urging signing of the water study agreement.

Mr. Stuart reiterated his view that the federal government had to "revise its formula" and was "taking a second look" at the matter.

The short agenda included reaffirmation by the district to the Rutland Agricultural Society that installation of an air conditioning system for the Rutland health centre would require referendum approval. The board also acknowledged a letter from the society stating withdrawal of financial support for a proposed new swimming pool on the grounds there were "more essential services required" in the Rutland area. The board also approved the appointment of Jim Stuart, Andrew Duncan, W. H. Raikes, and regional district chairman, W. C. Bennett, as members of a court of revision for compilation of an owners' directory.

Dissatisfaction with an advisory planning commission bylaw threw the matter back for re-drafting and re-submission at the next meeting.

The district also sanctioned a letter to the basin water board asking for clarification about whether a monitoring check will be maintained on cooling water being returned to lakes by the proposed Hiram Walker plant. The issue was precipitated by Geoffrey Paynter, who appeared before the meeting merely as an individual "interested in the Okanagan" and against water pollution. His main concern was whether the cooling water to be returned to lakes by the bottling plant was going to be maintained at "ambient" temperatures as stipulated in the original agreement.

His cause found a champion in D. A. Pritchard, who introduced Mr. Paynter to the meeting and admitted he "could not answer" the question of why he was going to monitor the Hiram Walker cooling water.

"I'm satisfied it won't change things very much," said George Whittaker. He added the company has stipulated cooling water would be returned at 8 degrees, but would be the same temperature as the lake by the time it reached that body of water.

The Kelowna city council has re-affirmed its decision to require underground services in all new developments. The matter arose Tuesday night after the council received lengthy correspondence regarding a subdivision in the city's north end. Apparently electrical services were put underground by the developers, but telephone and cable television have not.

the matter requires more study, but he was told other developers, even some outside the city, have put services underground and this case involved the developers and the Okanagan Telephone Company, and not the city.

Four pieces of detailed correspondence, one dating back to March, were in the aldermen's files and there was little discussion on the matter.

TONIGHT
The Kelowna International Regatta Association will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at the city hall council chambers.

Sub-committees are expected to take a month to sort masses of suggestions and proposals passed down by 30 people attending the mayor's committee for replacement of the Aquatic Wednesday.

Committee members discussed the thorny problem of Aquatic replacement for three hours with appointment of committees, a report from Greg Stevens, city planner and a plea from Kinsmen to "get going" dominating the action.

Among major points discussed was the stimulus of Kelowna perhaps obtaining the 1972 Canada Summer Games, the need for a central point for Regatta and the urgent need for convention facilities in the city.

Mr. Stevens suggested in his report the function of the mayor's committee was to set out guidelines for restoration of facilities and cautioned against becoming bogged in detail.

"At the last meeting we were still staggering under the pressure of what to do about the Regatta," Mr. Stevens said.

Mr. Stevens said a sports complex, city or regionally built, a pool, its financing and location, affects of new facilities on Regatta, development of convention centres by private enterprise and city construction of community centres should be considered by the committee.

He said priorities suggested in a recent survey were senior citizens recreation facilities, a 25-metre pool, community centre, a satellite arena in Rutland and a small auditorium.

"Major convention facilities are not the concern of the city," said Mr. Stevens, who claimed private enterprise could be urged to develop needed convention facilities in the community.

He said of prime importance was a brief "opening every avenue of obtaining the Canada Games."

He suggested the games would provide a stimulus for development of facilities in the Kelowna area.

While some delegates disagreed mildly with the suggestion that another building be erected in City Park most "found nothing to disagree with" in Mr. Stevens overall suggestions.

Regatta delegates concurred with the planner's suggestion the 1969 festivities proved the show could function well with temporary facilities.

"People and Regatta officials were pleased with the temporary facilities," Ted Rummals, deputy director, said, "we could put up with temporary bleachers and facilities for two or three years."

A park community centre, with some facilities for Regatta shows, was proposed and met with concurrence from most delegates. Some argued it should be back from the waterfront.

Some argument was expressed against putting "another blacktop" into the park but most agreed the 33-acre park could stand another structure.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson suggested the park must have some sort of facility to prevent from falling into "undesirable control" during the off-season.

"What we need is some sort of happy compromise so the park is not dead outside of the two or three, or maximum for month summer season."

"It must be something that will keep people interested in coming to the park all year round so the park is not turned over to undesirables," he said.

At one point in the meeting Kinsmen delegates asked if some "starting point" in action to be taken and pleaded that the meetings accomplish something more than "fruitful discussions."

A Kinsmen delegate said 1972 was "gone" as a target date for completion of any facilities.

They suggested their financial drive program for the 25 metre pool proposed before the Aquatic fire had "gone aboard."

"I don't know what the meeting accomplished, we are just talking generalities," he said.

Mayor Parkinson urged Kinsmen to "pound right ahead with their financial drive."

"We can't raise money for something this nebulous, we must know when and where the pool is built."

At least one person is in hospital today after a two-car collision Wednesday afternoon on Bertram Street.

Police did not have the names of several persons injured in the accident, which occurred in the intersection of Doyle Avenue and Bertram Street at 5:45 p.m. People in both vehicles, however, were injured, the Mounties said.

Clarence Enns, and Lorna Tubman, both of Kelowna, were drivers in the accident which resulted in about $1,300 damage.

Another two-car collision occurred an hour earlier at Leon Avenue and Pandosy Street involved B. H. Hawkesworth, Westbank, and Margaret H. Kinson, Kelowna. Damage was about $600, but no one was injured.

A small sports car was damaged early today by a three-car accident on Richmond Street. A resident on Richmond Street reported his convertible top and trunk were damaged by the vandal.

Police had one other complaint overnight—children breaking bottles in a parking area on Queensway. Some of the children were intercepted, police said, and used "abusive language."

Confusion about who hit who and where in a car accident resulted in several changes of plea today in judge's county court.

Alex Kowal, Kelowna, charged with failing to obey a traffic signal light, earlier pleaded not guilty to the charge. Today he switched his plea to guilty but presented an account of an accident that indicated he was not guilty. The matter was finally straightened out when a picture of Mr. Kowal's car was presented. The man was fined $50.

Other convictions today were: Richard T. Andres, Kelowna, $100 for driving without care and attention; and I. Moser, Kelowna, $36 for back a vehicle unsafely.

Trial date was set for Sept. 11 in the case of George Freeman, Rutland, charged with breaking and entering. He pleaded not guilty and elected trial by magistrate.

Also pleading not guilty was Marie Czajkowski, Kelowna, charged with crossing a highway unsafely.

Sentence was suspended in the case of Donovan Del Hack, Kelowna, who pleaded guilty to driving an improperly equipped vehicle.

Just as comprehensive, the commission's winter school at the arena includes mini-hockey for all ages from age 10 to 17 years, figure skating, as well as public skating. Mr. Palmer and his wife Irene, have been active in the life of this community during the two and a half years that Kelowna has been their home. Both are members of the Kelowna Golf and Country Club.

A veteran of some 20 years service with the Unemployment Insurance Commission, Mr. Palmer came to Kelowna from Brandon, Man. where he managed the commission's office. He has also served in a similar capacity in Sarnia, Ont., and for a number of years was part of a team of inspectors which travelled across Canada examining the various UIC office operations. He began his career in London, Ont. as an auditor and worked for a time in Sarnia, Thomas, Ont.

If students are needed for apple picking they'll be told. This annual message has been circulating throughout South District 23 (Kelowna) by board officials.

As in past years, arrangements have been made with the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, the Kelowna Labour committee and the Canada Labour power Centre—if an emergency harvest situation arises.

The school board, along with the industry, will decide if student pickers are required.

Several years ago students were used fairly often to help in large apple crops, but the transient picking force has been decreased since 1966, and in the past four years only the Westfield area has required emergency student help.

Short Takes

It is very evident that certain types of protesters—such as those who mobbed Prime Minister Trudeau in Vancouver and Toronto—particularly when ganged up into a mob, are entirely uninterested in reasoning or dialogue. The Vancouver incident demonstrated that Trudeau can talk till he is blue in the face but the response of the violent protesters is merely shouted insults and a refusal to listen to anything said by anybody. This suggests that circumspection for the office of the prime minister may now inhibit our splendidly uninhibited prime minister and there will be no more confrontation with rowdy protesters. Most Canadians will hope that Canadian prime ministers will not everywhere have to be surrounded by a host of armed guards and be fenced off from the people as is the inevitable fate of U.S. presidents. This would be a development much to be regretted by all who are anxious to preserve the amenities of civilized living.

Short Takes' etiquette editor, spending his pay in a shopping spree the other day, held open store doors for 10 women. The score: Three thank yous, two smiles, four vacuous expressions and one scowl.

The other evening we watched a mother bird save her baby. Her chubby fledgling had floundered during flying practice. A roving cat moved in. Mother bird attacked. Chirruping and beating her wings, she stopped the cat with one furious drive. Repeating the manoeuvre she backed him out of the yard inches at a time. If she had needed human help she would have gotten it. But she didn't. Outside the lawn, on the street, a group of small children were playing in the twilight.

Gen. Allard Speaks Out

(Calgary Herald)

A nation does not let its allies down. Rather, a nation lives up to its commitments in the over-all defence of the whole.

Certainly, a nation does not allow other nations to do its dirty work for it.

Is Canada obeying these primary rules of international conduct? Gen. Jean V. Allard, retiring chief of the defence staff, does not think so—and thousands upon thousands of embarrassed Canadians will be agreeing with him.

No one is debating the point that the Liberal government had every legal right to cut back its NATO forces. That right was part of the original pact signed by Canada twenty years ago.

Neither will the majority of Canadians cavil with the prime minister's hypothesis that the nation must reduce its spending drastically.

But those two points beg their own questions.

For instance, why cannot federal savings be made in other areas instead of depleting our forces at home and abroad? As Gen. Allard implied, a cut-back of 35,000 men since 1964 is a severe cut-back. What remains in regardless of the moving traffic. And we wondered—where were their mothers?

In Simcoe, Ontario, a young man was sentenced the other day to pay a $75 fine or spend 15 days in jail for breaking the top off an ornamental tree. The sentence was stiff. And appropriate. In Kelowna, as elsewhere, we have trees and property destroyed to provide a few seconds of perverted pleasure for goons and fools. The Simcoe judge, the policeman who caught the culprit and the crown attorney who sought a stiff sentence as a deterrent to others furnished a commendable example to our local police and courts.

Most of the states of the United States are adopting a holiday plan to make several three-day weekends. To do so some holidays are being switched from their traditional days to a Monday. In Canada we have done the same thing with Thanksgiving, Victoria Day and the traditional Labor Day. In the U.S. four new Monday holidays are being established by switching Washington's Birthday from February 22 to the third Monday in that month; Memorial Day from May 30 to the last Monday of the month; Veterans' Day from November 11th to the fourth Monday in October and by making Columbus Day a national holiday and switching it from October 12 to the second Monday in October. This, with Labor Day, will make at least five three-day holidays each year. Christmas, New Year's, the Fourth of July and Thanksgiving will not be affected. Thanksgiving will continue to be a Thursday but when any of the others fall on Monday, that will be a bonus.

the end—about 80,000 to 85,000 men—will scarcely be enough to fulfil Canada's commitments to its partners in Western defence, at least with any degree of efficiency.

Moreover, Gen. Allard hit the nail squarely on the head when he observed that it was "sheer hypocrisy" to advocate that Canada should abandon its nuclear role while the country was prepared to accept the protection of the nuclear deterrent provided by its Western allies. Indeed, he saw any advocacy to do away with nuclear weapons for the West as "almost to advocate war."

General Allard is not a politician, with axes to grind or votes to garner. He is a professional soldier, one who has dedicated his life to his country.

Even as he was regretting the decline in Canada's armed forces he was, above all, a Canadian, recognizing the country's spending budget had to be pared, seeing the peril of another enemy, once called inflation, invisible and just as implacable, in another way, as one who might strike from outside.

Because of the man, because of his experience and undeniable dedication to his country, his words should be listened to, remembered well and, best of all, acted upon.

Simmering Nationalism Haunts Bahama's Politics

NASSAU, Bahamas (CP) — SIMMERING NATIONALISM haunts Prime Minister Lynden Pindling as he tries to create an atmosphere of unity and stability for his five-year program of social and economic reform.

Many blacks in the hired help bracket are meeting customers in the lucrative tourist trade with sullen hostility. Already a frank young member of the cabinet—Tourism Minister Arthur Foulkes—has asked them to cool it, pull up their socks and show a little more courtesy. He says they're guilty of confusing service with servility, also their customers with their former white "oppressors."

But the government must get its message across gently because it attacked the white establishment for so many years in opposition.

"How can the ordinary Bahamian brought up on a political diet of white opposition possibly distinguish between his white employer and the free-spending white tourist who's only looking for a good time?" asks Geoffrey Johnstone, deputy leader of the opposition United Bahamian Party. "They promised pie in the sky and the Bahamians want it now."

ON TIGHTROPE

ACTUALLY Prime Minister Pindling is walking a tightrope. His support comes from the working class who want a bigger share of the profits and management of their economy and want it immediately. There is no question their living standards are improving, their acceptance for supervisory and skilled jobs in general when they are qualified.

But their resources of manpower and material wealth are limited and the islands remain highly dependent on large-scale imports. All these factors are contributing to inflation and its accompanying discontent.

Meanwhile, foreign capital investment needs concessions that seem to conflict with local aspirations—financial concessions, the use of imported skills and professions and public expenditure in extending utilities which are still lacking in some backward communities.

The government is making a sweeping attack on the problems. It is revising property taxes, sharpening licence laws and fees for the multi-million-dollar gambling casinos, firmly persuading the free-wheeling concessionaires to relinquish some of their power and rights won from previous pliant and, some say, apathetic white-dominated administrations. It is buying into some of these developments to ensure a cut of their revenue and a share in their direction.

It is also protecting Bahamians from housing discrimination by keeping a sharp eye to see that property taxes aren't passed on in prohibitive rents. Finally, it is supporting labor's demand for settlement of some outstanding disputes, mostly in the vital hotel and catering industry, and urging on-the-job training for Bahamians alongside skilled and supervisory imports. Many organizations including Canadian banks are co-operating with their own training programs.

Meanwhile, the Pindling government is embarked on its own intensive training program with a qualified staff to turn out catering staff for the importance of this field is pointed up by the estimate that 1,000,000 visitors will visit the Bahamas by air alone this year. And college is being established to turn out professionals, especially for the vital banking and legal fields.

These tax-haven islands have a population of only 173,000 (more than 80 per cent black) and members of the cabinet admit that even if all available manpower resources could be trained the islands' industry would still need to import skills and professions.

Strained public utilities are being expanded to meet the growing demands of foreign investment development in recreation, finance and industry. This is attracted by many things: the abundance of income, corporation and estate taxes; the close proximity of the United States market, efficient and rapid transport, access to the Commonwealth sterling markets offering preferential tariffs, a reasonably well-educated labor force speaking the language of the biggest market.

The government is urging investors to be sympathetic to the policy of decentralization so that all its widely separated islands can profit. This problems of geography is another headache for the Pindling government.

The 3,000 islands and cays (pronounced keys) and rocks of the Bahamas stretch in a giant arc 700 miles long from 48 miles from the coast of Florida to the same distance from Haiti and in sight of Cuba. They cover 100,000 square miles of sea with only a few deep water channels—a man on stilts could walk the coral reefs between the majority of the islands.

Canadian private capital, from the days of the late Sir Harry Oakes through to the present investments of E. P. Taylor, has long been associated with Bahamian development and continues to enjoy a friendly welcome.

Recently a Canadian government agency, on the basis of using Canadian know-how and material—has underwritten the cost of extending a water system—most crucial of the islands' public utilities. With no fresh water rivers or lakes, the islands are dependent on pockets of rainwater tapped from underground sources and an experimental desalination plant.

Canadians provide more than six per cent of the islands' tourists, second after the United States with 87 per cent. Last year there was a phenomenal increase of 27 per cent in the tourist trade to 1,072,000 visitors—86,500 from Canada. Tourism earns $145,000,000 a year or more than 50 per cent of the total foreign exchange.

But foreign interest in the islands is both welcome and embarrassing to the government because of the internal problems it creates. This comes at a time when the Bahamas are seeking national independence with Canada as a pattern and with the Commonwealth tie likely to continue.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Hyperventilation And The Paper Bag

By DR. GEORGE THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several years ago I developed a breathing problem which my doctor termed hyperventilation. For this he advised me to breathe into a paper bag, and also put me on tranquilizers, plus hormones.

After about four years I found I could no longer fill a bag with my own breath, and was so shaky I couldn't even sign my name to a check well enough so the signature would be accepted anywhere except my own bank.

Now I hear the paper bag bit is just poppycock. I am off the tranquilizers completely. I no longer use a paper bag. But I have a bubbling in my chest near my heart that acts like a heart attack. I have had tests, but never had a heart attack.

Are tranquilizers, used over a long period, harmful?

Or is the breathing into a paper bag? I would like your opinion.—Mrs. L.B.

No, the paper bag bit isn't poppycock at all. Hyperventilation is a matter of a person getting his lungs too full of air—which gives him a feeling of inability to breathe simply because there isn't any room to inhale much more.

This, frankly, is usually the result of tension and anxiety, even when the patient isn't aware of anything in particular to be anxious about. That's the aggravating thing about anxiety in such cases.

Anyway, this hyperventilation—without the patient still feeling that he "can't breathe"—results in too little carbon dioxide in the blood instead of too much. Or instead of just enough.

Thus, physiologically, your body wants to reduce the amount of breathing, while consciously you still feel as though you can't breathe. Exhaling into a paper bag and then breathing the same air over again tends to increase your carbon dioxide and get you back to normal. Besides, the physiological reaction, there doubtless is an element of psychology, too: the feeling that you are "doing something" for your trouble instead of just sitting and worrying.

So much for the hyperventilation—and by your handwriting I see that you have gotten over being shaky.

But now you are worried about your heart, even though tests all are satisfactory. That "bubbling" near your heart? That doesn't fit with any form of heart attack. It might easily be the gyrations of a nervous stomach.

Shall I tell you straight out what all of this sounds like? It sounds like some sort of suppressed anxiety, a subconscious need to worry about something—first the hyperventilation, then the shakes, the heart.

Perhaps going back to a mild dosage of tranquilizers might help, but I think it might be more helpful to try a few sessions with a psychiatrist to see if he can detect what it is, deep down, that is making you tense and anxious. That has been the right answer for others with experiences like yours. It may be for you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can liver damage result from inhaling too much spot remover or cleaning fluid, from just one time, or after repeated times?—Mrs. G. J.

It would take repeated occurrences to cause any detectable harm. But take no chances.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sept. 4, 1968 . . .

The French Republic was proclaimed 99 years ago today—in 1870—following the capture of Napoleon III during the Franco-Prussian War. With the fall of the empire in France a government of national defence tried to continue the war with Germany but the following year France capitulated. In Paris, Empress Eugenie fled the mob to the house of United States dentist Thomas Evans and subsequently fled to England in Mrs. Evans' clothes.

LETTER TO EDITOR

NOT HOSPITALITY

Sir:

I'll never forget your town. Last Sunday morning at 2 a.m. I checked into one of the downtown hotels and parked my car on the street. Later on in the morning when I went to get it, the car was missing. Somehow in the middle of the night I failed to notice that you can't leave your car parked on the street overnight. It cost me $250 fine and $6.00 towing. An expensive night I would say. The only thing Kelowna has got is good weather, certainly not hospitality.

Bygone Days

(From Courier Files)

10 YEARS AGO

Sept. 1958

The municipality of Glenora is continuing to set the pace in new construction this year. The eight month building period figures are nudging the million dollar mark. This is the highest in the history of the municipality, and more than double the figure for the same period a year ago.

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 1948

Proposed plans for a new city hall building, costing in the neighborhood of $150,000 were submitted to the city council. Alderman Jack Ladd touched off a debate when he opposed the bylaw to raise the money. "Nobody wants a new city hall more than I do," he said, "but couldn't we do it for around $100,000?" he said. It was decided to see if the architect could eliminate some rooms.

30 YEARS AGO

Sept. 1918

W. M. Tilley, former agent at C.N.R. River, received appointment as C.N.R. Agent in Kelowna. The post was made vacant by the retirement of A. J. Hughes who had been in the C.N.R. service for 33 years. Mr. Tilley, previously to going to Blue River, had spent most of his railroad life in the prairies, principally at Calgary.

40 YEARS AGO

Sept. 1928

Miss Vivian Jones, daughter of Hon. J. W. Jones M.P.E., who in company with Miss Olive Kerr, Vancouver teacher, recently completed a 77 day vacation, touring North America by auto, spoke at a Rotary luncheon in the Royal Anne Hotel. Miss Jones, who is physical instructor at Vancouver Normal, said "Of all the places of interest, the Grand Canyon stands out as the most impressive."

50 YEARS AGO

Sept. 1918

Cadets Anthony Dumoulin and Rodney Keller left Kelowna this week en route to Kingston, Ontario, where they will attend the Military Academy.

60 YEARS AGO

Sept. 1908

The city council was presented with a petition from the business men asking for a night constable, and guaranteeing a contribution of $33 per month toward his salary, in an effort to stop thieving, and protection against fire. "Chief" Hildson, the city's only policeman, was strongly in favor.

CANADA'S STORY

Horsemen Of NWMP Were Rough Riders

By BOB BOWMAN

How did the Saskatchewan Rough Riders get their name? The following isn't an explanation because the writer doesn't know the answer, but it could have been inspired by a colorful event when Saskatchewan became a province of Canada.

Both Saskatchewan and Alberta became provinces officially on Sept. 1, 1905, and Governor General Earl Grey and Prime Minister Sir Wilfrid Laurier went west to attend the ceremonies. They couldn't be in both places on the same day, so they attended the ceremony at Edmonton on Sept. 1 and then went to Regina. Thousands of people flocked to both capitals to take part in the celebrations.

One of the features at Regina on Sept. 4 was a display of riding by the North West Mounted Police. It included a game called "Pushball" in which there were three riders on each side. The ball was large, made of leather, and was supposed to be pushed by the horses' knees. The police were putting on an exciting contest—and giving a great display of riding until one of the horses decided to play rough, and hit the ball with its tail. This caused a blowout, and the game ended because no other ball was available.

Before 1905, Alberta and Saskatchewan were districts in the Northwest Territories. They were greatly enlarged when they became provinces, Alberta covering 265,000 miles and Saskatchewan 262,000. However, the federal government kept control of natural resources for a number of years, and the provinces did not even have complete control of education.

OTHER EVENTS ON SEPT. 4:

1812—Lord Selkirk took possession of Red River settlement

1862—Victoria, B.C., fortified owing to possibility of war with U.S.A. over "Trent" affair

1883—Prince George, later King George V, arrived in Canada as officer for H.M.S. Canada

1876—Edward Hawton of Toronto won World Rowing Championship at Philadelphia

1910—Hon. G. P. Githam, Minister of Railways, turned first sod for Hudson Bay Railway

1916—Canadian Corps took over section of the Somme

1929—Lignite was discovered at Abitibi River, Ont.

METAL ART CLASS

Youthful Indian Students Made Remarkable Progress

Twelve young Indians, ages 15 to 21 years, attended the Metalcraft Workshop held in Kelowna recently.

The youthful artists were taught by Zelko Kujundzic, art department head at Pennsylvania State University, who took a leave-of-absence to instruct at the annual course in the Okanagan.

Students came from Vernon, Penticton, Kamloops and Sugar Cane, near Williams Lake.

Class officials said workshop facilities provided by School District 23 (Kelowna) were excellent and the students, who attended from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily, made "remarkable progress."

Students were selected on a basis of aptitude in art, but none had previously worked in metal. The natural ability of the native Indians to use and adapt design and form was apparent. The class learned to beat, weld and fabricate in copper and also learned how to set natural stones into metal.

The girls, in particular, showed extreme interest in producing items of jewellery — such as bracelets, pendants and rings. Several sessions were devoted to the making of larger items such as candleholders, and many well-made and marketable items were produced.

At completion of the course students were given a set of tools and a torch to take home so they could continue to work on their own.

In this respect metalcraft has certain advantages over other home crafts (such as pottery making) in that the tools and equipment required involve less dependence on the availability of outside premises or on community support. The individual who has his own tools can work in metalcraft in almost any situation without requiring capital outlay.

Two students, immediately following the workshop, set up a stand during the Penticton annual salmon bake and observers spoke highly of their accomplishments.

Hospitality was again offered by Kelowna residents — this time mainly through the services of People Involved and the young Indians were given a warm reception in these homes.

Hall Decked With Streamers For Peachland Wedding Shower

Turquoise and white streamers and white wedding bells decorated the Legion Hall recently on the occasion of a bridal shower held in honor of Mrs. W. B. Stock (nee Frances MacNeill).

Upon her arrival at the hall, the guest of honor was presented with a nosegay of yellow tea roses, and was assisted in opening the many lovely gifts by her mother, Mrs. H. C. MacNeill and two sisters, Margaret and Cathy.

After the gifts had been passed around and admired, Frances was presented with a hat made from the decorative bows by Mrs. Joe Khalebach. She then thanked the ladies for the gifts and good wishes and

For her wedding the bride chose a full length, empire waisted gown of Swiss Guipure lace over peau de soie. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a headpiece of Swiss lace petals, and she carried a bouquet of red carnations.

Something old were her earrings; something borrowed, her watch and a blue garter completed the traditional rhyme.

CASTLEGAR ATTENDANTS
Matron-of-honor, Mrs. Kenneth Kinakin of Castlegar wore a pink lace gown, and a head-dress of pink bud roses.

Best man was Kenneth Kinakin of Castlegar.

The bride's mother received in a turquoise Kabuki-sleeve coat over lurex dress for the reception at the Capri. Bone accessories completed her ensemble and a corsage of pink and white carnations added contrast.

The bridegroom's mother chose a blue dress with over jacket and her corsage was also of pink and white carnations.

A three tiered wedding cake surrounded by gladioli, mums and carnations centred the bride's table. Toasts were proposed by Ray Johnson, Grand Forks. For travelling on a honeymoon to Banff and the States, the bride changed to a red two-piece suite, with white accessories. The newlyweds will reside in Mayflower Trailer Park, Grand Forks, B.C.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM FLINTOFF

Diamond Wedding Celebrated Here

Mr. and Mrs. William Flintoff, long time residents of Kelowna, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday at a dinner at the Longhorn with their immediate family. They later enjoyed an evening of good wishes with friends and relatives at the home of their son John Flintoff and Mrs. Flintoff at Benvoulin Road, where a decorated wedding cake was the highlight of the refreshments served.

Telegrams were read from Queen Elizabeth II, Prime Minister Trudeau and members of parliament. Their grandson, Dick Flintoff of Vancouver Island also composed a poem in their honor, which was read.

William Flintoff was born in Drummond Centre, Ont., and in 1909 married Elizabeth Hamilton, who was born in Perth, Ont. They moved to Capri, Sask., in 1910 where three children were born, Ethel (Mrs. James) Vowles of North Surrey;

Dorothy (Mrs. John Gerard) of Kelowna and John, of Kelowna. They farmed at Capri until moving to Kelowna in 1929, where Mr. Flintoff was a carpenter. They have lived here ever since, with the exception of a few years in Vernon. They have 11 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

IODE Superfluity Shop Opens Saturday On Ellis

Members of the two local chapters of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire are busy cleaning, sorting and preparing for the official opening on Saturday of the new location of the Superfluity Shop, operated jointly by the Dr. W. J. Knox and Mount Boucherie Chapters. The move to 1429 Ellis St., the fourth since the shop was first opened almost a decade ago, was completed during the weekend. The official program gets underway at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The shop, which handles good quality used clothing, jewelry and other articles donated by members and interested citizens, is unique in that it is the only such shop in IODE records in this province, that is operated by two chapters. This harmonious relationship is of great benefit to both groups and an excellent spirit of comradeship prevails. Convener of the shop is Mrs. Henry Trembley, assisted by Mrs. Flora Simons.

OPEN DAILY
Seasonal merchandise, all in clean condition, is carefully sorted and displayed in the shop, manned by members and hours of business, at present, are daily, Monday through to Saturday, from 2 to 4 p.m. with the exception of Wednesdays, at which time the shop opens from 10 to 12 noon.

Many home sewers find the shop useful as not only is the selection of used clothing made to order for make-over skills, but buttons and zippers, salvaged from clothing put into rag sales, are also neatly offered.

Proceeds from the shop are used by the two chapters to carry on their many local projects, as well as support for IODE provincial and national projects.

MOUNT BOUCHERIE
During the past decade the Mount Boucherie Chapter has contributed $11,250 in bursaries

DECREASE IN VALUE
The British halfpenny bought four pounds of flour in 1324, a dozen eggs in 1400, two mutton chops in 1837 and two cigarettes plus matches in 1908.

to students of the George Pringle High School. The elementary schools of Lakeview Heights and Westbank have received annual book prizes, magazine subscriptions, library books and calendars. Since 1964 the students assistance fund has been boosted, while the chapter's adopted school of Big Creek in northern British Columbia, annually receives library books, sports equipment and Christmas parcels.

Other areas of assistance have been parcels of clothing to Korea, food parcels for old age pensioners, books for servicemen overseas, Westside kindergarten, the school for the deaf, Kelowna General Hospital, George Pringle Music Association and the Jessie Burke Memorial Fund (cancer), are some of the more well known projects by Mount Boucherie.

DR. KNOX
Equally impressive is the list of projects carried on by the Dr. Knox Chapter which, in 1968, includes, two bursaries of $250 for deserving students of School District No. 23; eye examinations and glasses for children of needy families; welcome and IODE greeting cards for every new Canadian, who are also entertained at a well coming tea; and IODE historic calendars in 150 local classrooms.

A suitable library has been presented to the school of Telegraph Creek, now that all schools in District 23 are adequately provided with suitable libraries. Before these gifts of books were made to local schools.

Dr. Knox Chapter makes an annual contribution to the United Nations Seminar Travel Fund enabling students to attend meetings in Vancouver, as well as a membership in the United Nations local organization.

Dr. Knox also takes out a membership in the Student's Assistance Fund Organization. Before the establishment of its own yearly bursary, Dr. Knox Chapter was one of the largest contributors to this fund.

ASSISTS OTHERS
This chapter also supports the auxiliary to the David Lloyd-Jones Home and the Junior Hospital Auxiliary's Blossom Time Fair.

Members of Dr. Knox Chapter also prepare and serve refreshments at each monthly meeting of the White Cane Club.

In support of the Kelowna International Regatta, the chapter entertains annually at a garden reception honoring the newly chosen Lady of the Lake, her attendant, the contestants and others.

Until a change in policy of the TB Christmas Seal Fund, the chapter managed the local collection campaign and more than $7,500 was raised in this area in 1968-69.

While other means of raising funds are employed by the two chapters, the main source of income is from regular sales at the Superfluity Shop. Plans for special events and other displays at the shop, are in the making. Details or the opening on Saturday will be announced Friday.

Ho's Death In Long Run Could Have Big Impact

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

In the long run, Ho Chi Minh's departure from the stage can have a decided impact on events in Vietnam and Southeast Asia.

Ho's passing can prove a strong blow to North Vietnamese and Liberation Front morale. Particularly in his later years, Ho was not the stereotyped figure of a Communist strongman ruler, but rather a symbol, a father figure, a personality who cannot be replaced.

It was in the name of Uncle Ho that appeals went from Hanoi to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, exhorting them to pursue protracted war to the finish, even if it should take 20 years. It was in Ho's name that slogans were fashioned for the unification of Vietnam.

It was Ho whose name a dozen years ago was considered so powerful that it, alone, was believed capable of swinging a popular vote in an election. That may have changed under Communist rule in the North, but the name remained potent medicine among many in the South.

NAME HAD AUTHORITY

Thus it was the name of Ho, rather than the office of the presidency, which carried the authority with the Laodong (Communist) party in the North and with the guerrillas in the South. The question of a successor as president is thus of importance, mostly in what it may reveal about the present power structure.

Ho frequently was believed to have been the arbitrator of intraparty disputes and the last word in settlement of such disputes among members of what appeared from time to time to be a divided politburo. His presence could have been sufficient to keep others from squabbling among themselves for power.

Until about five years ago there were strong signs of division in the politburo along pro-Chinese and pro-Soviet lines. Much in the future depends upon the progress of Soviet-Chinese hostility.

It is probable that North Vietnam's future rests in the hands of four top men—Le Duan, the party's first secretary; Truong Chinh, chairman of the National Assembly; Premier Pham Van Dong and Marshal Vo Nguyen Giap.

Chinh has the reputation of being strongly pro-Chinese. His name is an alias, dating from the days when he was with Mao Tse-tung in Yenan at the time of the historic "long march." Truong Chinh means "long march," a token of his admiration for Mao. He was formerly known as Dang Xuan Khu.

A revolutionist since his youth in the 1920s, Chinh helped Ho and Pham found the Indo-chinese Communist party and was its propaganda director. He was its secretary-general, operating out of China, in 1941, and again in the 1950s. Under Ho's Hanoi regime, Chinh slipped and was demoted for the failure of agriculture in the North. He bounced back, possibly through Peking's then strong influence in Hanoi.

Le Duan, now 62, once was considered pro-Chinese. He seemed to shift in the 1960s, after becoming the party's first secretary. Duan is believed to have a strong machine in the party membership. He was one of Ho's leading commanders in the South when the Vietnam were fighting the French. He is an expert on relations with other Communist parties and has travelled both to Moscow and Peking.

Premier Pham Van Dong, now 62, an early Ho associate is considered pro-Moscow. He began serving Ho's cause in 1925 when he set up the main revolutionary base in South Vietnam. Since partition in 1954, he has been premier and at one time served simultaneously as foreign minister.

Giap, the defence minister who was architect of the 1954 Dien Bien Phu victory over the French, is primarily a military man. It is doubtful that he has vaulting political ambitions, but he could have army support in the arena. In any case, he would likely have a strong voice in the outcome of any power realignment.

MAN ROBS DOG OF BREAKFAST

LONDON (AP) — A three-man gang walked into a bank and stole a man's lunch and a dog's breakfast.

George Meadows, an employee of the BBC, was the victim.

He went into the bank with a large brown parcel. The gang thought this was food.

"A tall man tapped me on the shoulder and as he did so another man grabbed the brown paper parcel I was carrying," he told police.

They ran out of the bank to a waiting sports car, a man at the wheel, and escaped.

Philip Plans B.C. Visits

LONDON (CP) — Prince Philip will make an extensive tour of Canada next month, visiting about 10 cities in two weeks, officials disclosed today. The trip is mainly in connection with his awards plan for young people, to encourage them to excel in service to the community and in pursuit of hobbies.

Flying an Andover aircraft of the Queen's Flight, Philip will make his first stop at Saint John, N.B., Oct. 16. He will continue to Ottawa, Oct. 17; Kingston, Ont., Oct. 19; Peterborough, Oct. 20; Toronto, Oct. 20-23; London, Oct. 23; Calgary, Oct. 23-24; Kimberley, B.C., Oct. 24; Vancouver, Oct. 25-26; Victoria, Oct. 26-28, and then back to Vancouver Oct. 28-31.

Police-State Style Repression 'Could Follow Law's Disregard'

OTTAWA (CP) — A prominent American lawyer warned the Canadian legal profession Wednesday that police state-style repression could result from group violation of the law. William T. Gossett, former president of the American Bar Association, told the annual meeting of its Canadian counterpart that massive repression measures comparable to those of a police state would be a catastrophe for all.

Such repression could be brought on by continued "whole sale violation of law by large groups," he told the banquet audience of 1,300 which included Premier Robarts of Ontario. "The politics of confrontation must not be allowed to degenerate into an embittered free-for-all that will destroy everything," he said. Lawyers ought to be concerned about campus and street violence.

Mob uprisings ought to be dealt with calmly and with restraint, "but with absolute clarity that criminal methods will not go unpunished and that blackmail and violence will not be rewarded."

Some student tactics in campus uprisings were totalitarian in approach. They deprived others of fundamental rights. Such disreputable tactics overshadowed idealistic student goals.

The Gossett plea for reason was preceded by a round of debate in panels as the week-long convention reached its midpoint.

Rescuers Busy In Honduras

BELIZE (Reuters)— Rescue teams today started clearing up debris in towns in southern British Honduras after hurricane Francella struck with winds of 110 miles an hour.

There were no reports of casualties, but heavy rains accompanying the hurricane Wednesday flooded rivers and swamped townships on river banks. The British frigate Mohawk, diverted from a visit to Barbados, was reported steaming toward Belize to give assistance.

The hurricane hit the southern town of Punta Gorda—then moved slowly inland to batter the tiny township of Monkey River.

Leopold Balderamos, chief civil aviation officer, said nearby plantations were smashed ad floodwaters about four feet deep were raging through the township.

Not Right Route For Fleeing Man

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — "Let's go—I just grabbed a bag of money," said the man who leaped into the car. And go they did—right to the police station. Police said McEvoy Robinson, 37, charged with grabbing a bank deposit bag, was being pursued by pedestrians when he sought a getaway driver. The man he picked was Detective John Epling.

'LEAVE FINANCIAL WOODS'
VANCOUVER (CP) — Too many people wait until they are in deep financial trouble before they ask for help in pooling their debts and getting out of the financial woods, says Mrs. Gordon Wood, manager of the pool department of the Vancouver Credit Bureau. She says about five people come in for counselling every month. About 350 persons are currently being helped in paying off their debts. "You'd be surprised how many people come in here and don't know what a budget is," says Mrs. Wood.

TRYING OUT FOR BUCKAROOS

Some or all of these youngsters could play big roles in determining the fortunes of the Kelowna Buckaroos of the B.C. Junior Hockey League. All are members of the Fort St. John team which last year won the B.C.-Alberta junior

River and Los Angeles, Calif., as well as close to 10 returning players. The Bucs open training camp Sept. 14 and play their home opener Oct. 18, against the new Vancouver Centennials. (Courier Photo)

Davis Extends Hitting With 9th Inning Drama

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Los Angeles Dodgers outfielder Willie Davis should write novels during the baseball off season—he has a flair for the dramatic.

He kept alive the longest consecutive game hitting streak in more than 20 years in the major leagues with a little ninth inning drama Wednesday night.

Thwarted in four previous times at bat in an effort to hit in his 31st consecutive game, he came up in the ninth and socked the first pitch for a double that scored Maury Wills from second to beat New York Mets 5-4.

First base was open, with one out and Wills on second, when Davis came to the plate to face relief pitcher Jack Dillandro.

Gil Hodges, Mets' manager, said he considered walking Davis, but decided to pitch to him in view of his four futile tries to extend his streak. The victory kept the Dodgers one game back of San Francisco Giants in the NL West scramble, and one-half game ahead of the Cincinnati Reds.

San Francisco shaded Montreal Expos 2-1. Cincinnati Reds blanked Chicago Cubs 2-0, Atlanta Braves trounced Pittsburgh Pirates 8-1 and Philadelphia Phillies romped over San Diego Padres 8-1 in other NL games.

Claude Osteen, seeking his 19th victory, was breezing along with a 4-0 lead over Jerry Koosman and the Mets until the eighth.

HOMERS TIE SCORE

Two tie score homers by Tommie Agee and Donn Clendenon tied the score and set the stage for Davis' game ending swat. Davis was mobbed by spectators swirling around him at third base as he left the field. The Mets stayed five games back of Chicago in the NL East since the Cubs absorbed a two-hit shutout from the Reds' Jim Maloney.

The Cubs' two hits, both singles, were made by Don Kessinger in the third and by losing pitcher Bill Hands in the sixth.

The Giants made only two hits against Montreal, but one was a single by Jim Davenport with the bases full in the seventh that drove in both of the Giants' runs.

Losing pitcher Mike Wegener of the Expos had loaded the sacks on three bases on balls before Davenport came up. The Giants' other hit was another single by Ron Hunt in the fourth.

Juan Marichal, who chalked up his 17th victory, had to bear down with all his skill in the ninth when Montreal put the tying run on third with none out on Mack Jones' triple.

Operation Catch Up Today

Operation Catch Up begins even of 10 games on the road. Minnesota manager Billy Martin's only big concern during the coming series is Rod Carew, who will miss the last three games because of a week-end military obligation.

Carew, who just rejoined the team after two weeks of summer training camp, is leading the league with a .351 average.

KEY BLOW Harmon Killebrew's two-run homer—his 39th of the season—keyed a five-run Twins' explosion in the sixth inning that helped Dave Boswell to his 15th victory in 25 decisions with a four-hitter.

Tony Oliva and Leo Gardenas also singled off runs in the big inning, while Boswell's sacrifice bunt scored George Mitterwald from third for the other.

Ken Harrelson slammed his 27th homer for the Indians. Rookie Mike Nagy, a 21-year-old right-hander, worked himself in and out of jams in stopping Oakland for his 11th victory in 13 decisions.

Gerry Moses, No. 3, and Syd O'Brien, No. 7, backed him with homers.

In the opener, Oakland came from behind with a seven-run uprising in the seventh inning. Danny Cater started it off with a single and Dick Green followed with his 14th homer.

Tito Francona singled in another run before pinch runner Alan Lewis tied it 4-4 by knocking the ball out of catcher Russ Gibson's glove on an apparent easy out at the plate. Sal Bando then produced the clincher with a three-run homer, his 22nd.

Poor Attendance At Ball Meeting

Baseball at all levels in the Okanagan, has no need of financial help and is in no way wanting coaches, umpires, or any other assistance. Ridiculous, you say? Well this was the impression "Garland" Taylor, president of the British Columbia Amateur Baseball Association got during his visit to Kelowna Wednesday night.

A meeting called for 7:30 p.m. at the Capri with the prime purpose of "organizing baseball in B.C. and finding financial assistance", was attended by just eight persons from the Okanagan. Attending from Kelowna were, Ron Schumaker, president of the Kelowna Labatts of the Okanagan Mainline Baseball League and Doug Moore, player and assistant coach of the Labatts.

Invitations, phone calls, and news media coverage, failed to bring out a single little league, Babe Ruth or Senior Babe Ruth official to the meeting—and the question is "why" is baseball dying?

Despite the famine, good points and questions were brought before Taylor. The first question asked was "What exactly is the B.C. Amateur Baseball Association?"

The association, it was explained, "is a member of the British Columbia Sports Association and is recognized by the Canadian Sports Federation." It is in no way connected with the Minor Baseball Association, which is a selected group of people.

The meeting ended with a general disbelief of the lack of attendance by prominent baseball personnel in the area, and the question probably in everyone's mind was "is baseball in B.C. going to lay down and die, or can the British Columbia Amateur Baseball Association lift it back on its feet with the help of part of the B.C. Sports Association's $750,000 grant and more important, the people of British Columbia?"

It was again stressed, that the Association's main interest is to organize baseball throughout B.C. and to gain financial aid.

The Association has divided the province into six different zones with a director in each zone to prepare briefs stating the needs of baseball in that area to the president.

The financial help will be available for clinics, coaches, umpires, or any need which will promote leadership among baseball players throughout the province. This does not however include park repairs, new buildings or anything that does not directly assist the young ball-player.

GOOD COACHES One of the main subjects brought up was the dire need of good coaching, starting at the Little League level and continuing on to senior baseball. The Association will aid in this capacity as to the need of the separate zones.

In connection with the shortage of good coaching, it was suggested by Ron Schumaker that American College students be allowed working permits during their stay in the province, so that they may assist in the coaching end as well as providing a better brand of baseball as a player. Taylor agreed that the cost of subsidizing the players every summer was an expensive proposition and that the idea of working permits would need a deeper look into by the Association.

More Than 100 Shooters Turn Out For Trapshoot

The Kelowna Trap Club staged the largest trapshoot ever held in the Interior on August 30 and 31. Under ideal conditions at Sportsman's Field, 105 shooters from B.C., Oregon, Washington, and Alberta shot at some 50,000 clay targets.

The past president of the Pacific International Trapshooting Association, Ray Yasui from Hood River, Oregon, won the "A" Class 16 Yard Event, with a score of 99 per cent.

Winner of Event 2 Handicap was C. Meeds of Oliver with 97 per cent. Earl Caldwell of Vancouver was doubles winner with 98 per cent. In Event 4, the winner was Ken Featherstone of Richmond with 99 per cent.

A four way tie developed in the 100 Bird Handicap between John Genier of Vernon, Gordon Finch of Kelowna, Ray Galawan of Richmond and Wayne Meeds of Oliver. Winner of this event in a shoot off was Genier of Vernon.

Winner of the overall high was Ken Featherstone of Richmond. Runner-up was Vic Welder of Kelowna.

The B.C. Championship will be held at Kelowna's Sportsman's Field in 1970 during the last week in May. This event attracts many shooters for the money prizes donated by the Pacific International Trapshooting Association.

The B.C. Championship Trapshoot has never been held in the Interior. This important competition was awarded to the Kelowna Trap Club because of new facilities at Sportsman's Field.

Bar Association To Hear Proposal For Commission

OTTAWA (CP) — A resolution endorsing Justice Minister John Turner's proposal for a national law reform commission will be sent to the floor of the Canadian Bar Association Friday.

But another resolution to have the association itself establish a committee for legal research and law reform ran into heavy weather Wednesday in the civil justice section of the association's annual meeting.

Emile Colas, president of the Conference of Commissioners on Uniformity of Legislation in Canada, said the association should give more support to the conference before forming a new body.

The conference was formed by the association in 1918, is partly financed by government, and brings together federal, provincial and private legal experts to work out uniform laws for Ottawa and the provinces.

They are working on a uniform law to compensate victims of crime. A law to cover new developments in body transplants also is being discussed.

Mr. Colas, noting that a number of law reform commissions and research bodies are being established, said this may dilute not only talent but funds. He asked whether the commissions are really reforming the law or merely reshaping it.

He said the uniformity commissioners' budget is so slim that an hour was spent at the recent conference debating whether to spend $16 for coffee. Disbursements in 1967-68 were $3,584.24.

Federal and provincial governments contributed only $200 each annually to the important conference but spent millions in grants sending people around the world to study exotic subjects.

"This is the type of nonsense we see today in Canada, yet we can't get enough money for fundamentals," he said.

"You have put it so well," replied another delegate.

A younger member, supporting the resolution, said that neither the bar association nor governments have been interested in legal research until recently, despite constant complaints from judges and lawyers about weak or outdated laws.

The uniformity commissioners conference was valuable but every-day practitioners needed something like the proposed committee to keep them up to date on research.

The argument that another money-using body isn't needed prevailed, however, and the resolution was redrafted.

Legal Group Takes Potshots At Expropriation Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — The legal community took some potshots Wednesday at the federal expropriation bill but Justice Minister John Turner didn't seem to mind.

He was attending the municipal law section of the Canadian Bar Association annual meeting, where various lawyers criticized the bill, which has been introduced in Parliament.

John W. Morden of Toronto said the reasons for which the federal government may expropriate property—for a public work or any other public purpose—are not defined in the bill.

A working definition arising out of court decisions might create problems that would not be found if the definition was made in the legislation, he said.

The provision that any person could object to an expropriation and cause an inquiry, even if he had no interest in the case, was too wide, Mr. Morden said. Only persons or organizations affected by the case should be permitted to file a complaint.

Mr. Morden also criticized the requirement that an inquiry officer had to complete hearings and present recommendations within 60 days of his appointment. This was too short a period for many cases.

GUSS CITES VIEWS

B. R. Guss of Saint John, N.B., chairman of the section, said the bill did not make clear that a property owner is entitled to compensation for the value of the property to him, rather than just the market value.

Mr. Guss said "you can never properly compensate" someone, for example, who is forced to move from a place where his family had done business for 50 years or more.

Mr. Turner said in an interview his department has been seeking the advice of the legal community for some time and would probably make improvements in the bill as a result of this advice.

Parliament would meet for a few days in October to continue the present session, then begin a new session. This would necessitate reintroducing the expropriations bill but modifications would take place before then.

The justice minister said he will receive a one-page memorandum from each of the speakers at today's meeting.

In addition, about 400 letters concerning the bill has been received from lawyers as a result of inquiries by the department. Copies of the bill were sent to about 1,700 lawyers.

Free School For Chinese

HONG KONG (AP) — For the first time in China's 3,000-year history a system of rural compulsory free education goes into effect this fall. In some respects it may be a system of compulsory labor.

The new school system is mostly Mao Tse-tung's idea, Western analysts of Chinese affairs say. They think it may be one of the biggest gambles China's 76-year-old leader has taken since coming to power in 1949.

The "old" school system was built largely along European lines with doses of Mao thought grafted on. Its destruction was one major goal of Chairman Mao's cultural revolution purges. This summer the purges were finally extended to elementary school teachers and staff.

Now that Mao's men run the classrooms, they can put into effect the kind of education plans opposed by deposed President Liu Shao-chi and his followers.

SETS AGE LIMIT

These are the major outlines of the new school system as related by the Chinese press:

—All children 6-13 will go to school in September.

—Courses have been shortened to seven from 12 years, and almost no children from the countryside will go to a technical institute, college or university.

—Children will spend seven years in "productive labor," the study of Mao's writings, and in learning better farming methods and the use of farm machinery.

—All schools will be administered and financed locally, instead of by Peking's ministry of education.

Mao apparently is saying that to develop its economy China needs a few physicists and more good farmers, fewer well-educated bureaucrats and more literate welders.

Including "productive labor" in the curriculum will give the country's leaders a ready reserve of flexible labor. Shortening the course to seven years will speed people into the work force.

NANCY DEADLIER THAN MANY MALES

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Big game hunting may never be the same again following 15-year-old Nancy Coggins' rampage through Tanzania.

Nancy bagged 28 animals—one for each day of her safari—including an elephant with tusks weighing 128 and 107 pounds each.

The tusks were the largest recorded in the country for two years.

Slim and pretty Nancy, from Elberton, Ga., previously had only shot at clay pigeons.

"I loved every minute of it," she said.

Included among Nancy's victims were a sable, a steinbock and a good sized rhino.

Accompanying Nancy on the trip were her father, Frank Coggins, and professional hunter Derek Dunn.

"Nancy shot a lot better than many men," Dunn said.

She hit the elephant from 30 yards.

Stop Training On Libyan Soil Britain Asked

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Libya's new military government has asked commanders of the American and British military bases in the country to stop training exercises on Libyan soil, Egypt's Middle East news agency reported from Tripoli today.

The report said the commanders of the U.S. Air Force's big Wheelus base outside Tripoli and of the small British bases at Tobruk and El Adem agreed to comply.

The report strengthened belief in the Middle East that closure of the Western bases would be one of the first aims of the leftist junta.

The Arab world's more radical governments were hurrying to recognize the new leftist regime, strengthening belief that the junta would pull away from the West and join them in a more militant stand against Israel.

Lots Of Action And Words But U.K. Wildcatters Go On

LONDON (CP) — While British trade unions mull over Prime Minister Wilson's latest strictures against wildcat strikes, wildcat strikes roll right along.

Wilson has been suffering embarrassment since his cabinet in June ditched a bold move—for a Labor government—to bring wildcat strikers under legal punishment. Instead, it turned the problem over to a cumbersome process invented by leaders of the 10,000,000-member Trades Union Congress.

This has not shown outstanding results up to now and at the moment big segments of British industry are tied up by the same kind of "unofficial" strikes by small groups that plagued the shaky economy before the government's June backdown in the face of arm-twisting by the muscular TUC.

Wilson got fairly tough before the TUC's annual conference at Portsmouth Monday and told the delegates:

"The fullest authority must be given by the trade union movement, by the constituent unions, to ensure that the damaging wildcat strikes of the kind we have seen before—and indeed since—the undertaking of June 18 must be dealt with."

GAVE PLEDGE

This undertaking was a pledge by TUC leaders that they would turn heat on individual unions to club members—small groups of whom have called damaging walkouts in free-and-easy fashion over local grievances—into getting back to work while responsible officers negotiate.

If the TUC leaders weren't tied up in convention, they could find plenty of work putting down the current outbreak of outlaw strikes choking production in the steel and automobile industries.

One wildcat walkout of 228 men has made about 5,000 workers idle and halted production at the nationalized British Steel Corp's plant at Shotton, Flintshire.

The pay dispute by key workers has kicked back into larger groups and the corporation said it will decide today whether the remainder of the plant's 11,000 workers are to be laid off.

In the automobile industry, several thousand employees have been put out of work temporarily by strikes of small groups.

More than 2,000 men were idle at Standard Triumph's auto plant in Coventry because of a dispute at the firm's Liverpool plant. Production at Rootes—a branch of Chrysler—came to a halt because of a small strike in a Birmingham factory that cut off their supplies of engine blocks.

Another 2,300 car body workers at Pressed Steel in Birmingham were idle because of a strike by 130 storemen. And there were several other small ones with the same kind of repercussions.

Wilson, evidently referring to this kind of strike, told the Trades Union Congress that —Elle Rabie, 36 or 46, five-foot-seven, 175 pounds, brown hair, brown eyes, dark complexion, wanted by Toronto police for conspiracy and uttering and fraud. Also wanted by Interpol, Italy, Control and California police for grand theft.

—William Michael Turchin, 31, five-foot-eight, 161 pounds, brown hair, blue eyes, medium complexion, wanted by Toronto police for armed robbery and by Seattle, Wash., police on a charge of murder. Considered armed and extremely dangerous.

Three lists of most wanted men are published each year. The last was issued by the RCMP Feb. 10, 1969. Only Clouser and Sigouin appeared among the eight men named on it.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

It is usually easier to play perfectly when you see all 52 cards, but, actually, very few hands arise in the ordinary course of events where not seeing the adverse cards should affect the final outcome.

For example, take this deal where poor defense permitted declarer to bring home an optimistic slam.

West led the queen of diamonds, won by South with the ace. Declarer realized that his prospects were very dim, but to give himself the best chance to make the slam, he decided to pin his hopes on an elimination play.

Accordingly, he drew two rounds of trumps, cashed the king of clubs and king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy, returned to his hand with a trump, cashed the ace of clubs, and then led a spade towards dummy.

West made the mistake of following low, thus presenting South with the contract. Declarer won in dummy with the king and returned a spade which West won with the ace. West was now forced to return a diamond or a club, permitting South to make the slam by ruffing in dummy and discarding the ten of spades from his own hand.

Had West gone up with the ace of spades when the suit was first led, and then returned a spade, South would automatically have gone down one.

This was not really a difficult play for West to make, since declarer had telegraphed his intentions by eliminating both minor suits before leading a spade, and West should have realized that unless he and his partner could capture two spade tricks their cause was hopeless. Grabbing the ace of spades at the earliest opportunity was therefore an absolutely mandatory play, even without seeing all 52 cards.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

This day's planetary influences warn against temperamentalism, emotionalism and over-sensitivity — especially in the hours before noon. Later in the day, restrictions lift and most persons will be highly congenial. A good time, then, for social functions; also for romance.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that where job and monetary interests are concerned you will, as of the first week in December, enter an exceptionally fine planetary cycle, lasting until March 31, during which you could make excellent progress. In this connection, personal and/or business-friends could be unexpectedly helpful in aiding you to launch new programs to start in late November. Other good periods for increasing your assets: Next June and July; for advancing occupationally: Next

May and August. Just one admonition, however: Do not speculate during the next three months and do avoid extravagance: during the first two weeks of December and the first two in April, or you could throw your budget off balance, despite star-promised gains.

Except for a brief period in mid-July, when you may be under some tension, personal relationships will be governed by exceptionally generous influences during the year ahead, which augurs well for social and domestic interests. Stars will smile on romance for the balance of this month, in November, January, May, late June and late July; on travel plans and social activities between now and late November; in late December, next June and July.

A child born on this day will be endowed with a fine intellect and unusual artistic ability — especially along literary and/or musical lines.

It is expected to take four months to repair this TWA Boeing 707 jet which was blasted by hijackers who diverted it Friday to Damascus, while on a Rome-to-Athens flight with 101 passengers and 12 crew members. Passengers had only a minute to flee the plane after it landed.

Bernadette Devlin Raised A Lot Of Money In U.S.

SHANNON (AP) — Bernadette Devlin returned to Ireland from the United States today and said she had raised "a great deal of money" for victims of last month's religious warfare in Northern Ireland. "We awakened in some Irish-American people their need to do something for their old country," she said. "And we succeeded in getting a great deal of money for the needs of those who were burned out during the riots." The 22-year-old member of British Parliament declined to say how much money she raised, but she said it was being deposited in American cities and would be transferred to Ireland later. Nor would she say whether it would be transferred to Northern Ireland or the Irish Republic. "It's not that I do not trust the Stormont (Ulster) government to the extent that they would steal my money," she said, smiling. "But I feel it's best to keep it secret until the time comes." Miss Devlin promised that the money would not be spent

IT WASN'T FAIR
HORSHAM, England (AP) — Fred Hogsflesh, 29, said he didn't mind being teased about his name, he'd got used to it. But then he decided to get married and the idea of his wife being called Maureen Hogsflesh, he said, offended his sense of fair play. So he legally took Maureen's name — Caswell.

The space-age project—30 miles off the New York waterfront—will have 14 runways, docking space for 480 ships, warehouses, office blocks and a hotel. Its designer, Kenneth Bratcher, 49, told a news conference Wednesday night construction of the estimated $530,000,000 project will start March 31.

Half Million Students Back In Classrooms

VICTORIA (CP) — An estimated half a million students returned to classrooms throughout British Columbia Tuesday. F. P. Levers, superintendent of education at the provincial department of education, said the 500,000 figure was "an educated guess" and added there would probably be a few more thousand in the schools over the next few months. The enrollment figure in January, 1969, was just under 483,000. The students will find there have been a number of changes made in the school system, especially curriculum changes. "New guides and elementary schoolbooks have been distributed as requisitioned and changes have been made in elementary school science studies with an increased emphasis on observation and study of the natural world," Mr. Levers said. A new elementary school music program, started last year, has been extended to the intermediate level this year.
